BobTalk:

This is my latest hit off of my latest record. This song usually gets played for about maybe a day or two, we're just gonna play it for a little while! (before Wiggle Wiggle).

A little hard to hear tonight. Ha-Ha!! It's very hard to hear tonight! Anyway ... (after Homeward Bound).

OK! That was on my mind too! (response to a request from the audience before People Putting People Down).

This is my anti-drug theme. It's one of the first anti-drug songs ever I written. (before Mr. Tambourine Man).

Thank you everybody!! That's from an album called Oh Mercy! This song is from the same album and it's called Man In A Long Black ... Coat! Sometimes you just got to say things the way they are you know. Lots of people came down on me for writing this song, but that's the way it is.

Alright, this is about what happens when you just watch people pass you by. They just seem to come from out of nowhere, you know sometime, pass you right on by. (before Shooting star).

Thank you!! Anybody out there just wonders how Beethoven used to feel? Just imagine standing here in my shoes! (before Like A Rolling Stone).

Here's one of my anti-religion songs, or my quasi-religion songs. (after harmonica intro to Gotta Serve Somebody).

You've got to serve ... what's the name of this song? You've got to serve somebody. (at the end of Gotta Serve Somebody)

Thank you everybody! This song is off my new latest smash record!! It's up to about 10 million now. It's gonna sell a whole lot more before it's through. Well, it would be nice if it did anyway. (before Wiggle Wiggle).

This is an old song of mine. An old song about one of my favourite subjects: trains. (after It Takes A Lot To Laugh, It Takes A Train To Cry).

Thank you everybody!! This is my fashion song for the evening, you won't hear anymore like it! (after Leopard-Skin Pill-Box Hat).

Thank you everybody! That was a song from another place, another time ... just like this one! (after Two Soldiers).

Here's a song about a wet kind of thing. A wet kind of song. (before A Hard Rain's A-Gonna Fall).

That was one of those wet things. This is more dry. This about being high and dry. (after A Hard Rain's A-Gonna Fall).

What's happening? That one was about wet things, this is more dry. This is all about being high and dry. (before "Don't Think Twice, It's All Right")

That was a song named after a famous street, called Positively 4th Street. Ha! Anybody ever heard of Jesus? Ah, well, it doesn't matter. It's OK. Anyway, he was kind of... (before Everything Is Broken).

Thanks everybody, this is one of my last songs about a ... a road. This one is one of my last travels.

(plays Highway 61 Revisited) Danke schön! All right!

Here's a song about ... Sometimes, like just today, somebody was coming to my hotel and stopped me on the street and he grabbed me around the shoulders and said "Mr. Zimmerman!" (pronounced with thick German accent!) These kind of things kind of shake a person up sometimes. And long ago somebody said the same thing. He didn't know me and he got run over by a street-car, in the middle of the street. It was a sad thing, but there wasn't anything for me to do but go back and write this song. And after it was written, that's when it was sung. (before Don't Think Twice).
