Selected BobTalk

Curious about what the weather looks like, just look out your window, take a walk outside.

Alright now, goin' out west where I belong, get away from the G-Rind (before Joe Jones)

Slim wrote a bunch of his songs with his wife Lavelle...boy, wish I had a wife like that t' help me write songs.

The Spaniels, were on that ill fated tour, which means probably I saw them, Winter Dance Party, 1959, the day that music supposedly died.

West Coast weather is the weather of catastrophe. The Santa Ana winds are like the winds of the apocalypse. But the summer wind that Frank's singing about may be a little lighter. Come on in, Frank.

Charles Aznavour sings in six languages, French, English, Italian. He's written over a thousand songs. I only know about half of them.

Western swing music: a mixture of country, cowboy, polka, and folk music, blended together with a jazzy swing, little bit of New Orleans jazz and blues. Got everything from a pedal steel to a bunch a saxophones. (Comment to It Ain't Far To The Bar)

One of those guys that recorded under a thousand different names, John Booker being one, Johnnie Lee, The Boogie Boy, John Lee, one of those guys that always sounds better without a band...13 bars here, 11 bars there, 9 there, it doesn't matter to him. Selected BobTalk

Time once again for Theme Time Radio Hour and tonight we're going to head out to the field of dreams, schemes and themes, to take a look at the national past time, baseball.

Take Me Out To The Ballgame

Verse 1 - read by Bob Dylan

Nelly Kelly loved baseball games,
Knew the players, knew all their names,
You could see her there ev'ry day, shout "hurray!" when they'd play.
Her boy friend by the name of Joe, said, "to coney isle dear, let's go."
Then Nelly started to fret and pout, and to him I heard her shout:

Chorus 1 - sung by Bob Dylan

Take me out to the ball game, take me out with the crowd;
Buy me some peanuts and cracker jack,
I don't care if I never get back,
Let me root, root, root for the home team,
If they don't win it's a shame;
For it's one, two, three strikes, you're out at the old ball game.

Verse 2 - read by Bob Dylan

Nellie Kelly was sure some fan, she would root just like any man,
Told the umpire he was wrong, all along, good and strong.
When the score was just two to two, Nelly Kelly knew what to do.
Just to cheer up the boys she knew, she made the gang sing this song.
And I just sang it for you!

In the 50's, every red blooded American boy either wanted to play baseball, or be Elvis Presley. Here's a rockabilly song by Chance Halladay that combines the best of both worlds.

One of those guys who went from hillbilly to rockabilly (about Jerry Irby).

A lot of people compared songwriters Chris Difford and Glen Tilbrook to Lennon and McCartney...but they were much younger

He had a sound that was kind of like a mix of honky tonk and western swing but with a freer, looser, more vibrant singin' style (about Curtis Gordon).

You know, at one time coffee was believed to be the drink of the devil. When Pope Vincent III heard about this, he decided to taste the drink before banning it. In fact, he enjoyed coffee so much he wound up baptizing it, stating 'Coffee is so delicious it would be a pity to let the infidels have exclusive use of it. I also feel that way about coffee. And about TV. And about Blur.
