Notes

President Barack Obamas introduction of Bob Dylan:

Bob Dylan started out singing other people's songs, by that he says there came a point where I'd write what I wanted to say because what I wanted to say nobody else was writing. Born in Hibbing, Minnesota, a town, he says, where you couldn't be a rebel, it was too cold. Bob moved to New York at age 19, by the time he was 23, Bob's voice with its weight, its unique gravelly power was redefining not just what music sounded like, but the message it carried and how it make people feel. Today everybody from Bruce Springstrten to U2 owes Bob a debt of gratitude. There's not a bigger giant in the history of American music. All these years later he's still chasing that sound, he's still searching for a little bit of truth and I have to say that I'm a really big fan!

The official award statement:

A modern day troubadour, Bob Dylan established himself as one of the most influential musicians of the 20th century. The rich poetry of his lyrics opened up new possibilities for popular song and inspired generations. His melodies have brought ancient tradition into the modern age. Within 50 years after his career began Bob Dylan remains an eminent voice in our national conversation and around the world.

Stereo TV broadcast, 3 minutes.
